

Abduction At Roswell

Chapter 1. Murder

In 1955 at Haneda Air Force Base in Tokyo, Japan the author was an 8-year old who first became aware of "The Martians", as he and the other kids in the neighborhood called them. They were in his house one terrifying night. The next day his 4-year old sister Kathy was dead. David was sure the Martians killed her.

[Interchapter: documentation proving the Seals family was stationed in Tokyo 1955-56. Captain W.J. Seals was a command pilot and intelligence officer. Further reports by several official websites describe a famous 1952 UFO encounter at Haneda AFB. There are also photos provided of the housing area at Grant Heights in central Tokyo where Americans lived in a segregated ghetto from the Japanese.]

Chapter 2. Roswell

Almost 20 years later in the fall of 1975 the author returns to his hometown of Roswell, with a traveling troupe of actors putting on a dinner-theatre comedy at the Roswell Country Club. All he remembers it that this was an important place to his parents who were married there. There is no awareness by him or anyone in the town of the forgotten 1947 UFO events. But by 1980 'Incident at Roswell' by William Moore and Charles Berlitz was published, and retired Colonel Seals remembers some "Bogies" when his surviving 6 kids ask him about him. Mrs. Seals is divorced from him and remembers vague "terrible events" from that time.

[Interchapter: First details of the 1947 events from books and video documentaries and other research articles; sketchy memories are emerging - - - these interchapters can also be online blog sites for questions and answers with the author, and other facts from readers, about the abduction and contactee phenomena, etc.]

Chapter 3. Thunder Nation

The author has become a writer as well as professional actor and returns again and again to Roswell - his theatre company has offices in Raton and Santa Fe, NM - writing more and more about the strange abductive memories emerging from Japan, as well as Denver, and North Africa where the family also lived. He's also working a lot with Native Americans on the indigenous mythology aspects of what the Apaches call "Thunder Nation" where the "Thunderbirds" {Spaceships} live.

[Interchapter: more facts and comments open from readers, especially about Native experiential shamanism and Medicine wheels, etc.]

Chapter 4. Collapse of the Family

Not only were the Mother and Father abducted in Roswell, and David the oldest son, the surviving other 5 children are also starting to remember terrible things, as the 1980s goes on. 2 other girls die in related paranormal events; as well as divorce, alcoholism, AIDS, etc.

{Interchapter: the psychological trauma of nightmares and addictive behavior, dysfunctional families, etc.]

Chapter 5. The Black Energy

David begins to understand more and more his own nearly fatal 1967 abduction in the hospital where he was born in 1947, and a flight through Death like Black Space, the Dark Cosmos as scientists call it, and a Divine Voice in the blackness offering him a rescue. He wakes up after 20 hours in a coma in another hospital with no physical or mental damage.

[Interchapter: the medical science and psychiatry and psycho-trauma of mental illness.]

Chapter 6. Back to Japan

By the late 1990s, with extensive hypnotherapy in Sedona with psychics and Indian Medicine women, he's remembering more and more of the events in Japan in 1956, the night Kathy was killed; as well as 3 missing days when the whole family was taken, as well as their entire C-54 airplane on the flight back to the States with Kathy's coffin on board!

[Interchapter:]

Chapter 7. The Mediterranean Sea

Major Seals and his family were stationed in Libya for 3 years from 1962-65, and learned more about the African, Egyptian, and Greek gods and myths of Flying Saucers.

[Interchapter: Egypt, the Book of the Dead, Greeks, Romans, Native Africans, etc. extensive bibliography]

Chapter 8. Confessions of the Gods

More details of the Egyptians and Gods and Goddesses around the world, in a series of 5 books written by the author.
